

OLD MAN'S BLUES © Allan Markin All rights reserved

Don't need a symphony or the Boston pops

No backup singers to make things rock

No Nashville violins to sweeten the sound

Don't want none of those strings around

Give me a smokey room with the lights down low

A shot of whiskey for a bit of glow

What does an old man need to sing the blues?

Just a good guitar and sensible shoes

No magic mushrooms or BC bud

Don't need none of that crazy crud

Don't need no groupies, just a chick or two

Any size or shape will do

In a smokey room with the lights down low

A shot of whiskey for a bit of glow

What does an old man need to sing the blues?

Just a good guitar and sensible shoes.

Don't need much talent never did have much

Don't need a vision or the magic touch

Don't need a silver spoon in my mouth

Don't need to think about the South

Just a smokey room with the lights down low

A shot of whiskey for a bit of glow

What does an old man need to sing the blues?

A good guitar and sensible shoes
